Concord, California USA — Formtek, Inc., an Alfresco Gold Partner that provides system integration, consulting, implementation and content management solutions, announces a reseller partnership agreement with Informative Graphics Corporation (IGC™), an Alfresco Technology Partner and leader in viewing, collaboration and redaction technology

Formtek will offer the universal viewer IGC Brava!® Enterprise for Alfresco to its customers and prospects, as well as offer a version of Brava for use with the Formtek Engineering Data Management (EDM) Solution for Alfresco.

"We're delighted to offer IGC Brava to our customers," said Formtek's President and COO, Dennis M. Scanlon. "Our partnership with IGC allows us to extend our content management solutions to include drawing collaboration and control capabilities like markup and redaction."

With IGC Brava! Enterprise for Alfresco, users across the enterprise can view, annotate and redact content in virtually any file format, including Microsoft Office documents, PDFs, CAD drawings, images and more—all from a single, easy-to-use interface. Both the Brava software product and the Formtek EDM Solution have met Alfresco's strict technical standards and are Alfresco Certified Technology.

"IGC Brava nicely complements Formtek's product and service offerings for Alfresco," said IGC CEO Gary Heath. "We're proud to enter into this mutually beneficial partnership."

Alfresco Director of Product Management Peter Monks oversees the company's technology certification program. "Alfresco Partners are innovative system integrators, software developers and resellers who build simple and smart solutions," said Monks. "It's good to see Alfresco Partners like Formtek and IGC join forces to help maximize the Alfresco customer experience."
